PLOT

An albino boy is isolated from everyone and he stands on the sidelines. One day he gets up to leave the classroom but as he is leaving he accidentally slams into a girl and a boy in the school garden grabs him from the backpack and he pulls him back so he falls on the ground. The boy takes his backpack, opens it and empties his backpack so the books fall down. The boys start passing each other a book and they don't let the albino boy take it. After a while a boy realizes that in the backpack there is also his phone and he holds it up with his hand. The albino boy can't reach it. The group of bullies begins to pass the phone without letting him take it. After a while, a member of the group throws the phone to another boy who doesn't grab it. So it falls off and breaks. The albino boy gets sick and he sits on the ground, the group leaves the classroom and a bully kicks the broken phone towards the albino boy. Immediately a friend of the albino boy comes and comforts him.

It's not worth a euro and then it is really bad >> Bully1 says. Bill's good friend arrives and sees the scene and says: << Hey guys, what are you doing, aren't you ashamed? You're very stupid >> and then he helps Bill and takes him away.
